336 COUNCIL MEETINGS

The City of Jerome would like express its gratitude to Marjorie Schmidt for her fourteen years of dedicated service of listening and decision making. In January 1998, Marjorie Schmidt was appointed to the Jerome City Council to fill the vacancy left by newly elected Mayor Dennis Moore. For the next 336 first and third Tuesdays of each month, she knew where she would be: sitting in front of citizens, city employees, and assorted businessmen and women. This level of dedication and commitment is not an easy thing to maintain, especially with tough issues on the agenda for the evening.

Marj has served with three mayors and three city administrators. She served as Council President 2004-2011. She is a member of the Jerome Urban Renewal Board (2005) and has been the Chairperson of that board since 2009. She also serves on the Apprenticeship Advisory Board at CSI, works full time with the Department of Labor, manages a business that she co-owns with her husband Terry, and is a member of Jerome Chamber of Commerce and Jerome Economic Development Team. Jerome has seen a lot of changes with her at the helm and with many positive benefits to the citizens and the community.

The current mayor, John Shine, expressed significant gratitude for Marj's service to the City and its citizens. When asked about Marj's service to the City of Jerome, he said, "Marj has been 'the rock' for Jerome's City Council for many years, steadily and faithfully serving through seven sets of council men and women. I'm grateful for the influence she had on me and the support she provided me for the past 5 years. Her contribution was remarkable and she will be greatly missed."

We wish her well in all future endeavors and hope that she will stop in now and then to say hello.

FLOODS RIP THROUGH JEROME

After a calm, dry, winter season Jerome received more than the fair share of moisture within a few days' time in mid-January. Drainage issues became immediately apparent in Jerome and its surrounding areas when standing water began to fill every available low-lying area within hours of the first major storm. The combination of heavy snows followed by rain created disastrous flooding which was unfortunately experienced by some members of our community. Employees from the Public Works and Water Works Departments promptly intervened and handled the situation to the best of their abilities, preventing catastrophic damage to public infrastructure and private property.

The Public Works Department was called to action the weekend of January 21st after a canal located a half mile east of Jerome breached its banks with the increased flows. Affected areas generally consisted of the end of east 8th, 16th Ave E and Tiger Drive. These residents' homes were surrounded and inundated with up to 5 feet of water in some cases. The Public Works and Water Works employees worked diligently through the night of the 21st to divert water, create sand berms, and assist with the cleanup after the flooding subsided.

Unfortunately, this is the second subsequent year when Jerome has experienced damaging flood weather. The city's irrigation system was designed for typical winter and spring storms, but not for unpredictable flash floods and torrential downpours. If floods continue, the city is committed to mitigating as much damage as possible while keeping our residents safe and comfortable.

If you have any questions concerning flooding in Jerome, please call the Public Works Department at 324-9669 or email wappell@ci.jerome.id.us.

BUILDING VALUATIONS INCREASED IN 2011

The final numbers are in for building projects in the city of Jerome for 2011. While total aggregate of permits are exactly what they were in 2010 (142 total building permits), it appears the total project value of the permits increased significantly in 2011.

The building permits include not only new construction but remodels and demolitions, as well as permits to allow a commercial property to place a sign at its location. In 2010 there were 48 commercial building permits with a total project value of $5,146,418. For residential permits, there were 94 permits totaling $5,832,160.20 in project value. In 2011 there were 69 commercial permits that totalled $7,771,033.70 and only a total of 73 residential permits at $4,322,223.80.

Although the residential project value decreased by $1,509,936.40 the commercial project value increased by $2,624,615.70. This brings the 2011 total project value to an increase of $1,114,679 over 2010 which is great news for Jerome's growing city.

A special thanks to the professionals in the building department for the City of Jerome for ensuring all the construction is being done in a safe and quality manner. If you have any questions regarding building permits in the City of Jerome, please contact the Building Department at 324-8189 extension 3.

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT: TIME FOR A GOOD BOOK!

FIREFIGHTERS TRAINED YEARLY FOR EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES

Every year, the firefighters of the Jerome Fire Department must re-certify for delivering Emergency Medical Services (EMS) to the City of Jerome. This means that each firefighter has to be trained in EMT Basic Level courses.

For this training, the City of Jerome has two firefighters who are certified EMS Instructors. Having certified instructors on staff saves the City money in training costs that otherwise would have been spent in sending firefighters to other communities for classes. It also allows the firefighters to train other firefighters or EMTs seeking EMS Training. In addition to EMS training, they can also teach CPR and First Aid.

In 2011, 63% of the calls the Fire Department responded to were for a Rescue & EMS. We have 4 different apparatus all equipped for EMS Service. In addition, both our Chief and Deputy Chief have small EMS kits in their command vehicles. This allows the Fire Department to respond quickly and efficiently to any emergency.

If you have any questions or comments for the Fire Department, please call 324-2323.

RECORD KEEPING AND CITATIONS AT THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

First of all I would like to thank Cheryl and Liz at the Police Department for the time they allowed me from their busy schedule. We are lucky here in Jerome to have the people in uniform that we do.

Article by Firefighter
 Oscar Garcia

As a firefighter, I have had the honor of being able to work beside them but until recently, I had never been inside the Police Department. The office definitely has its hands full with keeping tabs on all the citations issued, which is the "behind-the-scenes" work that we don't ever really think about. The citation process has many steps and is cumbersome with paperwork and legal requirements. After an officer issues a citation, copies are made and there are different forms that have different destinations. All these pieces of information go out to the courts, the State Police, and also to the FBI depending on the situation. The Records Division of the Police Department has this responsibility, which also includes making sure the officers are informed of court appearances that need to be made and play the vital role of setting up training arrangements. This is no small task and I have come to appreciate all the things they do over there at PD to make this a safer place for all of us.

Check out the Idaho crime report on the Idaho State Police website. Enter "crime in Idaho" into the search bar and see statistics from anywhere in the state. This wouldn't be possible for Jerome if it wasn't for the hard work from the Records Division at The Jerome City Police Department.

Last but definitely not least, if you are in downtown Jerome, stop in say hello to the newest member of our Police Department team. Liz Adams started on January, 3 and has taken Ida Guffy's former position in Records Division.

If you have any questions or comments for the Police Department, please call 324-4358.

JEROME POLICE DEPARTMENT GOES DIGITAL

Director of Information Services, Kathy Markus, is currently working on converting the Police Department to an Electronic Ticketing System which will eliminate hand-written citations. The old system of hand writing citations has been in effect for as long as Kathy has worked for the City, which is 17 years.

"I wouldn't be surprised if it has been in effect for a lot longer than I have been here," says Kathy. Kathy adds, "This process is extremely time-consuming, as well as difficult to read and subject to error." Kathy estimates that over 12,000 tickets have been written just since 2001.

The current hand-written citations are duplicated in 5 parts, and must be hand entered into the computer system by the Records Clerk at the City Police Department, and then again by the Records Clerk at the County Courthouse. Using the Electronic Ticketing System, the Police Officer at the scene would scan the barcode on the Driver's License and the barcode on the registration form. Then the Officer would enter the violation into their Mobile Data Computer (MDC), and the electronic ticket will print at the scene. The data is then uploaded into the City's Record Management System, as well as the Records at the Courthouse. Overall, much less time will be spent with much less opportunity for human error.

Before the Electronic System can be implemented, Kathy Markus has to make sure that the Idaho Supreme Court, Jerome County, City of

Jerome, and SIRCOMM, are using matching information tables regarding the Police Officer's information and the violation code numbers. There can be no discrepancies in order to make the system work effectively and efficiently.

According to Kathy, most of the money for this new program has come from a grant received from the Idaho Transportation Department, with the City only contributing 20% of the total cost. In addition, the City qualifies for a foundational customer discount of 50% from Digticket, the vendor supplying the program, because the City will be the first one to use their product in Idaho. "If all goes as planned, we should have Electronic Ticketing go into effect by the summer of this year" says Kathy, who has been working extremely hard to get this new and exciting program in place for the City of Jerome's Police Department.
